Rosamond Wienpfeimer, of Phila., Sept., 1874. Introduced peroxide of hydrogen, to bleach grey and black ostrich feathers to white; also the first to use same as antiseptic; discovered the elec. decomposition of sea-water for sanitation, used in many large cities for treatment of drinking water, sewage and garbage, and adopted by the U.S. Govt. to combat yellow fever epidemic in Cuba; discovered antiseptic and med. properties of sea-water in combination with the electric current. More recently discovered the treatment of garbage, sewage and refuse to fill in waste or marshy land, and for general land reclaiming; by this method is prevented the formation of noxious gases, by killing the germ of putrefaction, and propagating the germ which transforms the refuse into fertile soil. Practically demonstrated the value of the hypochlorites, so that Great Britain, France and U.S. Govt. have adopted their use in their navies and armies. Recently discovered cause and cure of pyorrhea (Riggs disease), etc. Modeled bronze medallion of Gen. Grant, which decorated the places where Grant's body lay in state (medallion now hangs in room at Mt. McGregor where Gen. Grant died). Home: Claridge Hotel. Laboratory: 64 Gold St., New York, N.Y.

THE FADING OF THE MAYFLOWER

A POEM OF THE PRESENT TIME & By THEODORE TILTON

IN this patriotic poem Mr. Tilton compares the simple life, the sturdy integrity, the high ideals, and the Godward look of the Pilgrim Fathers, with the luxurious excess, the money madness and the loose morals of the worshippers of the "Golden Calf" who are their descendants.

The poem is in sonnet form and will be welcomed for its high literary merit, as well as for its noble literary aspirations and the timeliness of its theme.

It impresses by its strength and charms by its beauty. It mirrors with fidelity the people and practices it condemns, and makes the picture more vivid by the contrasts it draws of those men of heroic mold who gave our country its birthright and endowment of liberty and glory. There are many touches of trenchant wit which gives it brightness. It pulsates with the red blood of patriotism, and is tuneful with a poetic inspiration worthy of the theme.

It should be read and studied by every American, and will find response in every heart that holds dear the jewel of American honor. Although past his "three score years and ten," ripened by experience, MR. TILTON retained to the end the idealism, the poetic delicacy and the originality of tone which gave such attractiveness to his utterances in the fateful period immediately following the Civil War. The Fading of the Mayflower was written at Paris, only a few months before Mr. Tilton's death, in 1907.

As a present for a friend no more appropriate volume could be found than a copy of the beautiful DE LUXE edition of MR. TILTON'S remarkable book.

Decorative border design, by Ralph Fletcher Seymour, of the Trailing Arbutus (from which the book takes its theme). Drawings by W. J. Enright. A beautiful half-tone portrait of the Author. India tint paper, uncut edges. Gilt top. Beautifully printed and bound. Full cloth. Price $1.50

Sent to any address on receipt of price, by the Publishers.

¶ Notwithstanding the fact that the value of each edition of WHO'S WHO IN AMERICA for up-to-date reference in regard to the living notables of the country is entirely supplanted by the succeeding new edition, the old volumes gain, year by year, in historical and reminiscent usefulness. The latest volume will, of course, always present the living with such increased completeness as to be indispensable for daily reference, yet the old editions become more and more valuable as records of those who have died, many of which it would be difficult, if not impossible, to find elsewhere. This fact is meeting with wide recognition, so that public, institutional and private libraries are keeping the old volumes as a series of the utmost value for presenting, with a completeness nowhere else attainable, the biographical history of the United States and all its varied interests and activities.

You should keep a complete file of Who's Who in America — from the first volume to the latest. If you have not procured the earlier volumes, BEGIN NOW.
